December 22nd- The Children will perform a quick nativity play for the congregation.

Just like that...

It's already the end of 2024, and I had an amazing first completely full year with all our Wesley Children, and Sunday School Volunteers!

Our fall Moses curriculum unit is coming to an end. We've been working on soap bar carvings and scavenger hunts of The Ten Commandments the past few weeks, to tie in our free field trip this month to the Worcester Art Museum on Sunday December 8th. Among the museum's many exhibit hall rooms we would specifically like to view their Egyptian Room. As well as attend their annual Hanukkah at the WAM event. To help us connect any ancient artwork, history, geography, or cultural customs back to one or more of Moses' stories.

We are also very excited for our first try at doing a nativity play again! It's been a while since we've had one at Wesley, and a few of us are still a little nervous about talking in front of the entire congregation, so we will keep it short and simple this year. In hope that we may continue working on our confidence skills for future years to come.

Lastly, I wish everyone a happy and healthy Advent Season!
